Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. Also, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

1.1	Elect Director Jose E. Feliciano	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: Directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders.. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Also, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights.

3	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Furthermore, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time
4	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability. In addition, the board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate.

1b	Elect Director Kyle R. Wargo	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. In addition, the lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function.&nbsp; We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Moreover, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. Specifically, a recently amended NEO agreement provides for an excise tax gross-up provision. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders. Lastly, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

2	Advisory Vote on Golden Parachutes	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Cash severance is double trigger and reasonably based, with no excise tax gross-ups. However, certain recent decisions by the compensation committee have increased the potential merger-related compensation to NEOs. While equity awards were previously expected to be pro-rated, they will now be converted to time-vesting awards at their full value, including recent grants made in 2022. Further, the committee approved sizable cash retention awards to NEOs which approximate 75 percent of their cash severance value. Also, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: Companies that have had the same auditor for a period of over 10 years should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm.
3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, former employees or company founders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Voter Rationale: The remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. In addition, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

3	Approve Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. Also, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

	Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. 	Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

	Voter Rationale: Companies that have had the same auditor for a period of over 10 years should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm.
4	Declassify the Board of Directors	Mgmt	For	For
	Voter Rationale: The decision to declassify the board is laudable. The annual election of directors provides greater board accountability to shareholders and is appreciated.

1a	Elect Director Mary K. Brainerd	Mgmt	For	For
1b	Elect Director Giovanni Caforio	Mgmt	For	For
1c	Elect Director Srikant M. Datar	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.
1d	Elect Director Allan C. Golston	Mgmt	For	For
1e	Elect Director Kevin A. Lobo	Mgmt	For	For
Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability.
1f	Elect Director Sherilyn S. McCoy	Mgmt	For	For
1g	Elect Director Andrew K. Silvernail	Mgmt	For	For
1h	Elect Director Lisa M. Skeete Tatum	Mgmt	For	For
1i	Elect Director Ronda E. Stryker	Mgmt	For	For
1j	Elect Director Rajeev Suri	Mgmt	For	For
2	Ratify Ernst & Young LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.
3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice.
4	Amend Proxy Access Right	SH	Against	For
Voter Rationale: Shareholders should have the right to reasonable access to the proxy, including the nomination of directors to the board. Such a practice encourages greater accountability of directors to the shareholders whose interests they represent. Similar proxy access in other developed markets has not lead to problematic elections, as some companies fear.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, incentive plan features that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Also, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. In addition, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Also, incentive plan features that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. In addition, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Lastly, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

| 1.2 | Elect Director David S. Grayzel | Mgmt | For | Withhold |

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: Board elections (Items 5.1-5.12) Votes FOR the proposed nominees are warranted. Committee elections (Items 5.13-5.15) We note that the company has a combined compensation and nomination committee. As such, a vote AGAINST the reappointment of the committee chair, Klaus Tschuetscher, is warranted as a signal of concern because the board is insufficiently gender diverse. Votes FOR the remaining nominees are warranted due to a lack of further concerns.

Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Also, substantial pay-outs under incentive schemes should only be available for superior performance. Reaching threshold targets may warrant vesting of only a small proportion of incentive awards. Further, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance. Additionally, companies should consider introducing deferral element and clawback provisions to the short- and long-term incentive schemes in line with market best practice. Lastly, companies should consider extending vesting periods for long-term incentive plans to 5 years or longer or as a minimum introduce an additional holding or deferral period.

Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders. In addition, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Furthermore, incentive plans that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Also, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

Voter Rationale: Executive officers are expected to hold no more than one external directorships to ensure they have sufficient time and energy to discharge their roles properly, particularly during unexpected company situations requiring substantial amounts of time.
Voter Rationale: The remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval.
3	Ratify KPMG LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

1.1	Elect Director S. Gail Eckhardt	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board and the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the bylaws and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.
1.2	Elect Director Robert M. Tichio	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the bylaws and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders.. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, directors are expected to hold only a small number of directorships and ensure they have sufficient time and energy to discharge their role properly, particularly during unexpected company situations requiring substantial amounts of time. Moreover, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Moreover, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval.

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Furthermore, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: Companies that have had the same auditor for a period of over 10 years should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm.
Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. The plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. In addition, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

Voter Rationale: The board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate. Also, the company should move towards a three-committee structure (audit, remuneration and nomination) in line with regional best practice, with independent board committees that report annually on their activities. Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. In addition, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company completed a merger transaction in November 2021 and therefore the long-term alignment and analysis of CEO pay and company performance cannot be completed at this time. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. In addition, the company granted the CEO a $5 million "going public" bonus. Upon completion of the transaction, the CEO received a total compensation of over $64 million. Moreover, we oppose dual class structures with impaired or enhanced voting rights. The company should amend its structure to allow for equal voting rights among shareholders

Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company completed a merger transaction in November 2021 and therefore the long-term alignment and analysis of CEO pay and company performance cannot be completed at this time. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. Voter Rationale: The lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function.&nbsp; We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The STI and LTI cash payouts were determined similarly using subjective metrics, with the LTI cash plan utilizing an annual measurement period, resulting in above-target payouts. In addition, the executive chairman's total compensation was considerably higher than total CEO pay.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

Voter Rationale: The annual election of directors provides greater accountability to shareholders and is a widely accepted best practice in corporate governance. Shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regarding their performance regularly.

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. 1.1	Elect Director Fredrick D. DiSanto	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: Executive officers are expected to hold no more than one external directorships to ensure they have sufficient time and energy to discharge their roles properly, particularly during unexpected company situations requiring substantial amounts of time.
1.2	Elect Director John W. Everets	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

1.4	Elect Director James A. Mitarotonda	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Moreover, directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. 2	Ratify Deloitte & Touche LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Also, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. In addition, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability. Also, the board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Also, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

2	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: The corporate governance committee has permitted a poison pill. The best defense against a take-over is strong management and a successful strategy. Where poison pills are adopted, they should be approved by shareholders prior to deployment, include independent oversight, and last for a limited time. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board has failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Additionally, the company's governing documents prohibit shareholders' ability to amend the bylaws. Moreover, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company did not include a say-on-pay proposal on ballot this year given its adoption of a triennial say-on-pay frequency. Continued lack of disclosure on compensation paid by the external manager to the company's executives may result in further adverse recommendations going forward. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. On early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Also, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. In addition, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive plans that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Likewise, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Finally, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: The board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate.
1c	Elect Director Howard S. Frank	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our expectation is that there be at least one female director on the board for a company of this size.

1e	Elect Director Thomas P. Murphy, Jr.	Mgmt	For	For
2	Ratify Grant Thornton LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	For
3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

	Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability. Also, the board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate.

Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company provides the same annual incentive opportunity to both the Executive Chairman and CEO, which is expressed as a percentage of adjusted EBITDA and is uncapped. Such an incentive structure can lead to outsized payouts and is especially concerning given that it is provided to two individuals. Moreover, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the company's governing documents do not permit shareholders to amend the bylaw. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Moreover, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Also, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

1.1	Elect Director John E. Alexander	Mgmt	For	Withhold
	Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. In addition, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

---	-----------------------------	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

1.1	Elect Director Ellen R. Gordon	Mgmt	For	For
Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability. In addition, the company should move towards a three-committee structure (audit, remuneration and nomination) in line with regional best practice, with independent board committees that report annually on their activities. Furthermore, we oppose dual class structures with impaired or enhanced voting rights. The company should amend its structure to allow for equal voting rights among shareholders. Also, the board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate.
1.2	Elect Director Virginia L. Gordon	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For controlled companies, the board should include at least 33% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity.
1.3	Elect Director Lana Jane Lewis-Brent	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For controlled companies, the board should include at least 33% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. Annual and long-term incentives continue to rely primarily on board discretion when determining final payouts and are not tied to meaningful, pre-set performance targets.

	Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our expectation is that there be at least one female director on the board for a company of this size. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board and the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the problematic capital structure, the "pop-up" supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The STI and LTI programs use identical metrics, targets and performance periods, which results in duplicative pay opportunities and limits the long-term nature of the pay program.

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Furthermore, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Also, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, we will still oppose this nominee because executives from acquired companies are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees and should be considered affiliated directors. Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. 2	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. 3	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. In addition, variable remuneration and equity incentives should not be granted to non-executive directors as this may compromise their independence and ability to hold management accountable. Also, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. Further, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, the company should put in place a procedure which would enable it, should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions on the part of any of its executive directors and other key managers which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders, to ensure that any funds wrongfully obtained in such manner are repaid to it.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Moreover, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. 1	Elect Director Barbara A. Payne	Mgmt	For	Withhold
---	---------------------------------	------	-----	----------

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: Severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders. Lastly, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: A former NEO received a sizable severance payout for voluntary termination of employment. We believe severance payments should neither be paid for involuntary departure circumstances nor exceed two times annual pay—and that larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval.

Voter Rationale: Directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Also, this director is not sufficiently independent to serve as the independent lead director. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, overall, the company does not disclose scope 3 emissions, nor do they set proper targets related to scope 3 emissions. Furthermore, the company's existing scope 1 & 2 commitment relies heavily on offsets. Enhanced disclosure and target setting is needed. Accordingly, as Lead Director, we are holding this director responsible.

3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Moreover, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Furthermore, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Lastly, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. 2	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Also, incentive plans that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Moreover, plan renewal should be subject to shareholder approval. In addition, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Lastly, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

	Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: The remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. In this instance we note that threshold vesting, at 40th percentile, is significantly above the market norm.

Voter Rationale: The roles of Chairman and CEO are substantially different and generally should be separated. Separation of roles is important for securing a proper balance between executives and outside shareholders and preserving accountability. In addition, the board should appoint a Lead Independent Director to establish appropriate checks and balances on the Board, support the Chairman, ensure orderly succession process for the Chairman, and act as a point of contact for shareholders, non-executive directors and senior executives where normal channels of communication through the board Chairman are considered inappropriate. Moreover, we oppose dual class structures with impaired or enhanced voting rights. The company should amend its structure to allow for equal voting rights among shareholders. Also, the company should move towards a three-committee structure (audit, remuneration and nomination) in line with regional best practice, with independent board committees that report annually on their activities.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the "pop-up" supermajority vote requirement to remove directors and to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Moreover, we expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders. Lastly, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.
3	Ratify PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	For
4	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	For
Voter Rationale: The plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Furthermore, the lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function. We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Also, we expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. Voter Rationale: The remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. Furthermore, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review.

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. In addition, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Moreover, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. In addition, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: Overall, we have concerns that the quantitative pay-for-performance misalignment is not mitigated. There remains significant committee discretion and a concurrent lack of disclosure on total incentive assessment. We would like to see enhanced transparency on quantified pre-set target or maximum goals and per-metric weightings. Additionally, the response to shareholders regarding performance-linked equity is not robust enough as the company integrated less-than-rigorous metrics that merely target and pay out for median performance. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

4	Ratify KPMG LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
	Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.
5	Adopt Management Pay Clawback Authorization Policy	SH	Against	Abstain
	Voter Rationale: While we are generally supportive of clawback policy adoption, it appears Wells Fargo's recoupment policies are relatively robust and establishing a collective responsibility among executive officers for monetary penalties imposed on the company is overly prescriptive.
6	Report on Incentive-Based Compensation and Risks of Material Losses	SH	Against	For
	Voter Rationale: Shareholders would benefit from additional disclosure surrounding broad-based incentive compensation programs that could lead to material losses due to excessive risk taking, especially given that broad-based employee incentive structures have played a key role in recent high-profile controversies that caused financial and reputation harm to the company.
7	Report on Board Diversity	SH	Against	Abstain
	Voter Rationale: While we are generally supportive of diversity efforts, the company is not significantly lagging behind its peers in board diversity and it provides sufficient disclosure on board diversity data.
8	Report on Respecting Indigenous Peoples' Rights	SH	Against	For
	Voter Rationale: Shareholders would benefit from increased transparency regarding due diligence around Indigenous Peoples' rights in project-related financing and clients' activities, for both existing and future business.
9	Adopt a Financing Policy Consistent with IEA's Net Zero Emissions by 2050 Scenario	SH	Against	For
	Voter Rationale: Climate change presents ongoing and serious risks to shareholder value. Additional information on the company's strategy and competitive positioning is merited.
10	Oversee and Report a Racial Equity Audit	SH	Against	For
	Voter Rationale: An independent racial equity audit would help shareholders better assess the effectiveness of Wells Fargo's efforts to address the issue of racial inequality for its stakeholders and its management of related risks.
11	Report on Charitable Contributions	SH	Against	Against
	Voter Rationale: Disclosure of individual gifts to all charitable organizations is overly burdensome, and this company already reports its significant gifts.

Voter Rationale: The corporate governance committee has permitted a poison pill. The best defense against a take-over is strong management and a successful strategy. Where poison pills are adopted, they should be approved by shareholders prior to deployment, include independent oversight, and last for a limited time. We have concerns regarding the adoption of a short-term poison pill with a relatively low 10 percent trigger and for not providing sufficient disclosure regarding the future of the pill, which is set to expire just four days after this annual meeting. For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, we are still opposing this nominee because for widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity.

These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. 	Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, the remuneration report does not articulate how executives performed against historic performance targets. The board should articulate how bonus payments reflect prior year performance, as well as outlining forward-looking targets that underpin long-term incentive plans. In addition, the long-term incentive plan is linked to a single performance target. Companies should base vesting levels on multiple performance criteria that reflect both absolute and relative financial metrics rather than a single performance criterion, and should stagger vesting to reward progressively better performance.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Furthermore, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Also, incentive plan features that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Lastly, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, the board should act with accountability to the investors it represents and take action where a substantial proportion have expressed concerns over compensation practices in previous years. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years. Likewise, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders. Lastly, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance because the company has not adequately responded to last year's low say-on-pay vote results. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. In addition, the board should act with accountability to the investors it represents and take action where a substantial proportion have expressed concerns over compensation practices in previous years.

In addition, the board should act with accountability to the investors it represents and take action where a substantial proportion have expressed concerns over compensation practices in previous years. Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. Also, the board should act with accountability to the investors it represents and take action where a substantial proportion have expressed concerns over compensation practices in previous years. In addition, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Furthermore, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

In addition, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval.

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Moreover, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: Directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders.. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, we expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. Moreover, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights, as well as for failure to remove the problematic capital structure or subject it to a less onerous sunset requirement.
